How To Follow This Course

Course Structure:

Any folders or files with a name surrounded with square brackets, such as "[ignore]", are not important. It's usually something like the images used in the course. Any important information will be in files with the "@" prefix. All course content should be numbered. Feel free to use these numbers when asking questions or making comments. Here's an example tweet: "@0xZ0F there is a spelling mistake in 0x001." Be cautious though, The number for a chapter or section may change in the future especially if the content is currently undergoing changes.

Words

- Each folder (Ex. 0x000-IntroductionAndSetup) is a chapter.
- Each piece of content (Ex. 0x001-HowTo.md) is a section.

I use some technical lingo and abbreviations. If you're unsure what they mean go to Lingo.md.

If you haven't already, please read README.md and @BeforeYouBegin.
